

The Cost Of Using Your Company for Political Manipulation is Fiscal and Brand DEATH!

By Arlen Spetin

Gawker Media decided it wanted to rig politics. Now it is dead!

The CEO of Starbucks and Sony Pictures wanted to make movies and covertly finance Israeli settlements with their coffee and movie money. Now they are fired and their companies are scrambling for customers.

The voting public now has the tools to identify, target and terminate any company on Earth that pretends to sell something but secretly rigs politics! Those terminations are getting easier to execute and more frequent as The Streisand Effect process engines take hold around the planet.

Even, Google, who created the “Take-Down Effect” is getting hammered into submission. In the new world, getting “Schumer’d” is a thing. Kathy “ISIS” Griffin is now facing heat for promoting the torture and execution of a sitting President and abusing his young child. Was her approach smart or self-destructive?

In the new world, financing any candidate means the end of your company. Mouthing off about politics means the death of your corporation. Netflix moved all of the gay and get-a-sex-change movies to the front of it’s pages and lost over a million viewers. While Netflix may, or may not, be run by closet homosexuals, it was a very bad idea for them to push their views on an open world.

The public has risen up and is showing the corrupt technology CEO that “DEMOCRACY IS NOT THEIR PLAY-THING!”

Either make a product or run for office but never, ever, try to do both. You are guaranteed to be terminated, along with your company.
